PIKEVILLE, KENTUCKY

Miss Mary Roe Phinney

In recognition of her years of loyal service and kindly interest to and for Pikeville College

Miss Phinney has made a place for herself in the hearts of the students, especially those of the Dormitory. Her motherly interest and patient care in creating a christian home on the campus has endeared her to us. Sunday evening is affectionately called:

"Miss Phinney's get together."
with its friendly nine o'clock meeting.

It is with sincere affection that the staff dedicates this volume of the 1946 Highlander to her . . .

"It is more blessed to give than receive."

“Gems”

from the “Aim of the College”

“No person can lay a solid claim to an education whose moral as well as mental faculties have not been cultivated.”
“The purpose of true education is to . . . minister to others, thereby finding the . . . highest happiness.”

Purpose

This has been a great year . . . A war has ended . . . A new era begun . . . An era calling for the best men have to offer . . . We, the students of Pikeville College in this school year of 1945-46, feel that a challenge has been given us. We are willing to accept it and give to our school, our world, and above all, to our God, the best in us . . . With this in mind, we, the staff of this annual, wish to set forth our purpose . . .

FIRST:

The school years of an individual are most important in preparing him to give his best . . . Therefore we strive to present the memories of this year, and thereby perpetuate them for our classmates . . .

SECOND:

We are proud of our school . . . Proud of its Christian atmosphere, of its scholastical achievements, of its social development and feel that it is our just right to preserve these standards which have meant so much to us . . .

THIRD:

To recognize those who have given their time and energy to make this school year possible . . .

FOURTH:

To give to those who come after us a view of the memory of this year, that they may be aware of the traditions which have been handed down to us and which we in turn, give to them . . .

PRESIDENT A. A. PAGE, B.A., M.A.

In October, 1941, Mr. A. A. Page became president of Pikeville College. Since that time he is ever striving to preserve the ideals of Christian living, and to maintain the high scholastical standing within Pikeville College.

His magnanimous personality has created a place for him in the hearts of his students and faculty. He is never without time to talk over the 'little things' which are so important to the students.

We of Pikeville College pledge our loyalty and affection to him — as our president and as our friend.

In his second year with Pikeville College, Mr. Dorsey has proved himself equal to the tasks placed before him. The students have found in him a kindly and friendly man. He is ever ready to aid in student problems—great and small—and his advice is warm and sincere.

In addition to his duties as Dean, he teaches Psychology and education. No student who comes in contact with Dean Dorsey need ever feel that he is without a friend.

The Classes of Pikeville College

This year we welcome back many students who have served our country in time of war. May they find opportunity in our school to gain the knowledge necessary in a world of peace.

The Highlander extends its hand in greeting to them, and wishes them success in the coming years.

To the graduating students who appear on these pages for the last time, we hope they will find this book a constant reminder of Pikeville College and of their part in its life. We send them away with best wishes for a full future. May they reach the goals toward which they are climbing!

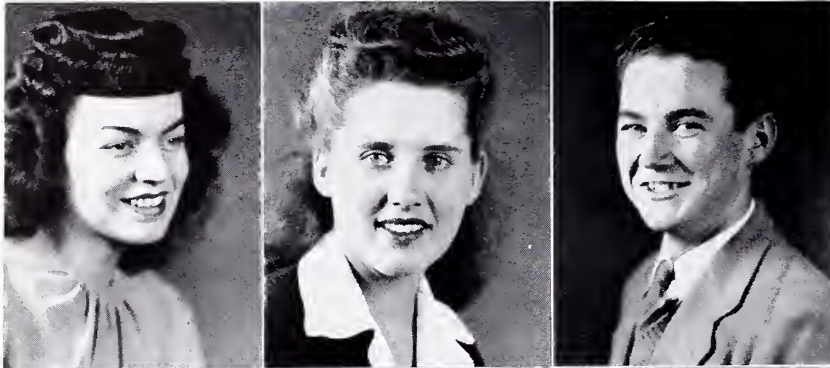

To those who are with us for the first time, we hope this book will hold promise of the year to come. We will look for them on these pages next year.

Y. M. C. A.

We believe that Christian character is the first requirement for a successful life. The Young Men's Christian Association was organized for this purpose and is carried on as an active part of the life of the College. Its members, made up of the young men of both the College and Academy, meet every Tuesday evening under the able direction of Rev. T. Winston Wilbanks. Walter Frasure has served as president for this year and also holds the presidency of the state Y. M. C. A.

It would be hard to measure the good accomplished by this group. Besides the personal gains of each of its members, the active program followed has gained for the College many friends in its projects throughout the county. Each week, some member of the group has conducted Sunday School in a rural community.

The weekly program is formed about some subject applicable to young people and each member has the opportunity of introducing his views. Thus, through an interchanging of ideas, the group receives a democratic approach. It also has invited speakers of outstanding merits who have given generously to the ideals developed by these young men.

Mr. Wilbanks, its sponsor, has given much to the success of the Y.M.C.A. and has gained the respect of each member. His constant interest and help has greatly aided the fine work of the group. It is the sincere hope of its members that he will continue to be a part of the organization.

Y. W. C. A.

To the girls of Pikeville College, the Young Women's Christian Organization means Christian activity in service and growth. Its members find much to make this group one of the most active on the hill. Miss Elizabeth North, the organization's sponsor, has added another year of leadership to the Y.W.C.A. Her many years of guidance have helped make this group one of the best loved on the campus.

Tuesday evening is the time of the weekly gathering but the group does not stop with that. The activities of its members in the College and community are many. One of the outstanding programs of the group is its Sunday School work. Several members are active in the primary departments of the town churches where their aid to the department is immeasurable.

The college looks to this group with affection for its members have carried the Christian spirit into their daily lives and are ever happy to serve when ever and where ever able. It is the sincere hope of the campus that this group may continue its fine work in the years to come.

The Home Economics Club

What would home be without a cook! Or a College without a Home Ec. Club! As we write this, our mouth waters at the thoughts of the gustatory delights whipped up by this group under the able guidance of Miss Katherine Rigby.

Of course each member hopes to make some member of the male population happy at some future date, so the Club helps the girls learn those pointers which so appeal to a man's heart — and stomach. However, cooking is not the only accomplishment of this group as one may see upon the inspection of 'campus costumes'. Dresses, aprons, slippers, and other articles are turned out with equal skill.

'Home Ec.' is also an indispensable part of the school program with its attractive programs and decorations, not to mention menus. If we may paraphrase: 'The way to a school's heart is through its stomach.' The Home Economics Club has won ours completely!

The Camera Club

"Shoot it!" If one hears this cry on the campus, there is no need to duck. It isn't the Hatfields or the McCoy's out for blood but only some member of the Camera Club trying to add another picture to the overflowing collection. No one is safe from their lens and they boast of shots of the most camera shy persons on the campus.

Mrs. Ethel L. Beem is the proud sponsor of this group and is seldom seen without her camera. She has added equipment for enlarging.

Besides taking, developing and coloring pictures, this group has also designed cards for Christmas, Valentine's Day, and Easter.

Even the faculty have the 'picture bug' and the Dean is one of the most active of its members. It is definite that the Camera Club is here to stay!

MEMBERS NOT IN PICTURE: Robert Barrett, Nadine Compton, South Bevins, Marianne Auxier, Rudy Rutherford, Bruce Thacker, Imogene Daniels.

Latin Club

The Latin Club or Colles Gentes (Hill Clansmen) was organized in the fall of 1945 by Miss Elsa M. Tyndall, instructor in Latin. The aims of the club are: to help the students to become better acquainted with the culture and ideals of the Romans; and by games, songs, reports and dramatization to add to their practical knowledge of Latin.

The officers for the two semesters have been: Consuls, Octavia Trivette and South Bevins; Pro-consuls, Herbert Chaney, and Nancy Harp; Praetors, Anne Gene Conolly and Clare Wright; Aediles, Nadine Compton and Sallie Ann Hudson; Quaestors, Nelson Burnett and Ronnie Gooslin, Roman Sentinels, Robert Barrett, Bobby Tyson, Don Trivette and Linton Slone.

Social activities of the year were: a Christmas program of carols and a cantata; a Valentine party; the annual Roman banquet; and a chapel program featuring different types of Latin songs. Miss Tyndall is the sponsor.

The Record

The Record is a group apart from the understanding of the uninitiated with its 'printers devils' and cries of "Copy!", with its constant search for news. The latest activities of students and faculty are sure to be found in its pages.

Mr. Franklin Day is the sponsor, and it's rumored that his staff feel that he missed his calling because printer's ink is in his blood. The 'Record' owes much to his patient guidance.

The staff can be seen at all places at all times. Eyes to every spot on the campus and ears at every keyhole. If you want to know 'Who's who' at Pikeville College just read the 'Record'.

The Highlander

We must be modest, since this is us, and refrain from telling our many fine points. What if we do work to preserve the year's memories? What if our Editor does lose sleep over 'dead-lines' that are never met? What if our Business Manager does go grey over 'Ads?' We must not brag about ourselves. However, we are proud of being a part of the book that gives to you, the students, a record of this year, of the friends you made, of the things you did, and the teachers you had. In the years to come, we hope you will often turn these pages and live again the year 1946 at Pikeville College.

Yes . . . there is much between these covers that will stand forth as the things memories are made of and we hope that they will carry to the friends of Pikeville College our message of college days . . .

W. A. A.

Look over to the pictures of these girls painting and you will see why this group stands high on the list of favorite clubs! The Game Room in the Derriana is one of the outstanding accomplishments of the members of the Women's Athletics Association during the past year.

Miss Marie Guthrie is responsible for much of the enthusiasm of this group by her constant interest as their sponsor.

Almost any day, one may see this group busily active in any one of many sports. "Physical fitness" is the by-word of this organization and its results may be seen in the members.

College Glee Club

An active part of the College curriculum, the Glee Club has presented outstanding and polished programs on many occasions during the year.

The Easter program is one of the highlights of the school year. This year, the Glee Club has also presented a Christmas program, two Chapel programs, taken part in the Annual Music Festival, and the Commencement Program.

Mr. Forrest E. Albert, its director, has given much in time and training to this group. The College can be justly proud of this organization.

Future Teachers Club

Since the members of this club hope to take their place in the community as teachers, the organization endeavors to stress the many small aids which so help in the profession. Lectures by noted educators make up many of the programs of the year. Problems of the classroom are discussed and views given which may help the future teacher.

This year, the group also equipped the education room as a one room school. The painting and decorating was done by members under the guidance of the club sponsor, Dean Leroy G. Dorsey. Many county teachers have visited the College to see this project. The social life of the club is extensive. There is an air of friendliness among its members which greatly adds to its popularity.

Spiritual Emphasis Week

The center of the College life is the Chapel with its morning worship. The crux of the school is Christ. During the week of Spiritual Emphasis the student is offered the opportunity of dedicating himself to Christ.

In all the school program there is no greater achievement than the leading of its students to Christ. This week is set aside so that every person may look to himself and determine his relationship with God. He is given the opportunity of public confession and it is a truly inspiring sight to see the many who profess God before men. No member of Pikeville College has ever taken part in this week without feeling the depths of its effects in daily life.

The Reverend Clyde Henry, Assistant Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, was the speaker during this year's Spiritual Emphasis.

The religious life of the College does not stop with Spiritual Emphasis, but rather, builds towards it in the daily program. Chapel is conducted for a half hour every morning of the school year, opening with the chimes playing the Doxology. At sundown the Doctor Record Memorial Chimes are heard over the town as three hymns are played by Miss Mary Spilman.

The aim of the religious life of the school is to lead the students to the Lord Jesus Christ, to develop a high type of Christian character, and a potential Christian leadership for both the Church and State.

Bears

The College Ball Team is happy to welcome back Mr. Manor as coach. For the past three years he has been active in Europe with Uncle Sam. Mr. Manor, plus the new gym makes next year look promising.

The loss of our gym this year, by fire, made practicing difficult but the team carried on in true Pikeville College spirit.

You may notice the trophy in Goeble Newsom's hand. In spite of fire and flood, our boys brought home the bacon! In the Junior College Tournament they were the Consolation Winner.

Next year, with the completion of our new gym, we are expecting many additions to the present sport program. The gym will be the largest in Eastern Kentucky, and it is with pride that we face the new season.

Gertrude Hopkins

The cultural life of the College is not lacking. The best in music is brought to the school for a public concert and a chapel program for the students. On October 11, 1945, the Alumni Association presented Miss Gertrude Hopkins of New York at the evening program of Founders Day.

Miss Hopkins is one of the outstanding Harpists of today, having toured extensively both in this country and South America. She has also appeared with leading Symphony Orchestras. Her program was a well balanced selection of Classics and lighter music. Such composers as: Brahms, Bach, Donizetti, and Renie were well represented.

Following the concert, a reception was held in the Administration building. The informal atmosphere gave everyone the opportunity of meeting Miss Hopkins.

On the morning of October 12, Miss Hopkins appeared for the students in a half-hour program of light music. The enthusiasm of the audience was clearly shown by the rush for autographs following her appearance. Pikeville College will long remember the concert of October, 1945.

Egon Petri

Take a record from Columbia Album M-523, and you will receive a sample of the program presented November the 8th at Pikeville Chapel. It is a Chopin Prelude played by Egon Petri, the famous Dutch Pianist. We can't help bragging a bit at this for Mr. Petri stands high on the roll of World Greats in Music and we are justifiably proud of having him at Pikeville College.

Mr. Petri was born in Germany of musical parents, his father having been first violinist with Europe's best Symphonies. In his early years, he studied the violin under his father, later turning to the piano. He became a citizen of the Netherlands in the early 1900's and gave his first public concert there in 1902. During the following years he traveled the continent and finally settled in Zepopane, Poland.

At the outbreak of World War II, Mr. Petri came to America and accepted the Chair of Music at Columbia University which he now holds.

Besides being a musician, Mr. Petri is also a linguist speaking ten languages besides his native German.

James Montgomery

The second regular concert presented by Pikeville College, introduced James Montgomery who offered tenor selections from Grand Opera to Negro Spirituals.

Mr. Montgomery is a friend of Mme. Mana-Zucca, the well-known composer, and offered a number written by her and dedicated to him.

The audience was highly entertained by the two scenes of Light Opera so well sung with suitable action. The stuttering song of Wenzel, the country boy of the 'Bartered Bride', capped the evening with its amusing lyrics. The Chapel program of the next day again gave the student body a most entertaining half-hour. Mr. Montgomery stands high on the list of Pikeville College favorites.

Hart House

String Quartet

As our first concert of the year 1946, The Hart House String Quartet, under the direction of Boris Hambourg, presented a program of Quartet music including such composers as: Mozart, Haydn, Dvorak, and Grainger, who will be remembered for his visit to Pikeville College in 1944.

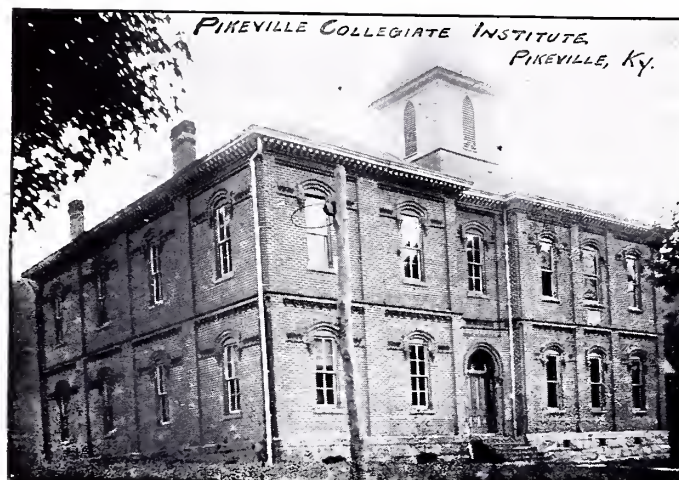

The group charmed the audience with the delicate sounds of strings in the hands of experts. The rendition of the American Quartet by Dvorak, will stand as a high point of Pikeville College's Concerts.

A reception was held after the concert and, once more, the friends of Pikeville College met in the Administration Building for a cup of punch and a chance to greet old friends.

The American Troubadours

The last concert of the year was a presentation of American Folk Music by the American Troubadours under the direction of John DeMerchant. The program followed the development of our music beginning with the Revolution period and concluding with George Gershwin. It was a sparkling evening, filled with humor, wit, and even a tear or two, as the group sang songs of all types. The Negro Spiritual, the Mountain Folk Song, and the Music of New England plus others could be found in the selections. Miss Lucy Brown, pianist for the group, presented five modern composers in solo performance, several composed as late as 1943.

The appearance of the American Troubadours was a fitting close to the music season of 1945-46, and it was with satisfaction that the audience applauded our final artists of the year.

The Training School

No copy of the Highlander would be complete without mention of the Training School. It is one of the most active parts of the life of Pikeville College.

This year has seen the installation of new light fixtures in every room of the building, the redecoration of First and Second Grade Room, new playground equipment, and a project room by the Fifth and Sixth Grade.

Each grade organized a Chapel program and presented it at the College.

To those preparing to teach, the Training School offers the opportunity for practice teaching under the guidance of its capable instructors. Their patient interest will be long remembered by those who have worked under them.

To the history of the College, the building housing this group is of importance. In the summer of 1889, the Ebenezer Presbytery in the Synod of Kentucky, chose Pikeville as the location for a school of higher education and erected the first building on what is now the lower campus. This is now the Training School and stands as a monument to the wisdom of this group who saw the need for an institution to serve the youth of this section.

We, of Pikeville College, are proud of the Training School and by including this page, pay tribute to its work.

On The Hill

"And in the sweetness of friendship let there be laughter, and sharing of pleasures. For in the dew of little things the heart finds its morning and is refreshed."

The classes are past and the time is on hand to relax . . . Here are the days you spent 'on the hill' just having fun . . . 'Remember the tree that seemed to be the collecting place after supper? It's here . . . And the parties you gave? You will find them in the following pages.

Even the faculty members are human as some of these will prove . . . for instance; Mr. Mack and Miss Williams doing K.P., or Mr. Page entertaining Miss Edinger at the Dorsey's Christmas party.

Of course, we couldn't leave out the Dormitories with their constant activity . . .

So . . . here are you in lighter moments . . .

Well, let's get going

The Only Shade Tree

There are many trees on our campus. Beautiful arching green, overhanging dark branches. Tall, stately trees, short, chubby trees. Oak, Elm, Poplar, Locust, and Maple cast their shadows over the grounds. Strange as it may seem, though all the other trees stand, only the Silver Maple by the girls' Dorm seems to give the necessary shade.

Day after day, you will find students beneath her shade, carefully commuting with nature better studied with the aid of 'some sweet thing'.

As evening falls, the last of day finds boy and girl whispering lessons to each other, (At least that is what they told our reporter they whispered!) 'neath the faithfully sheltering branches of 'The Only Shade Tree'.

R. S. V. I.

Reception time! Mrs. Dorsey carefully pours Miss Record a cup of punch, while Mr. Mack looks on. Oops, Miss Rigby! Who's out front?

Thanksgiving, and all is ready for the feast, thanks to Miss Rigby and the Home Ec. girls!

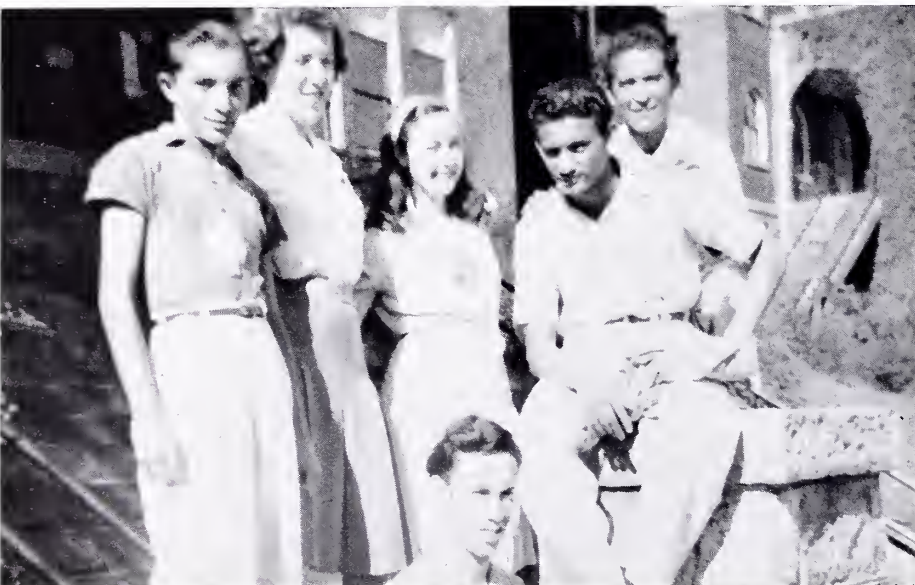

Merry Christmas to the Faculty from the Dorsey's. If we can judge from the picture, it was a great success.

Cuttin' Up

Come on, Bob,
you're getting there!

Some fun, eh what?

Smile!

Fixin' Up

The basement of the Derrianna is getting a new coat in preparation for a game room. Miss Guthrie is really slinging that paint!

The floor, too, must get a new face. Of course the painters keep the paint on the floor, not on themselves.

Well, here is the finished product, already christened. Not a bad job, girls, not at all bad. Look out, Nelson, you'll miss it!

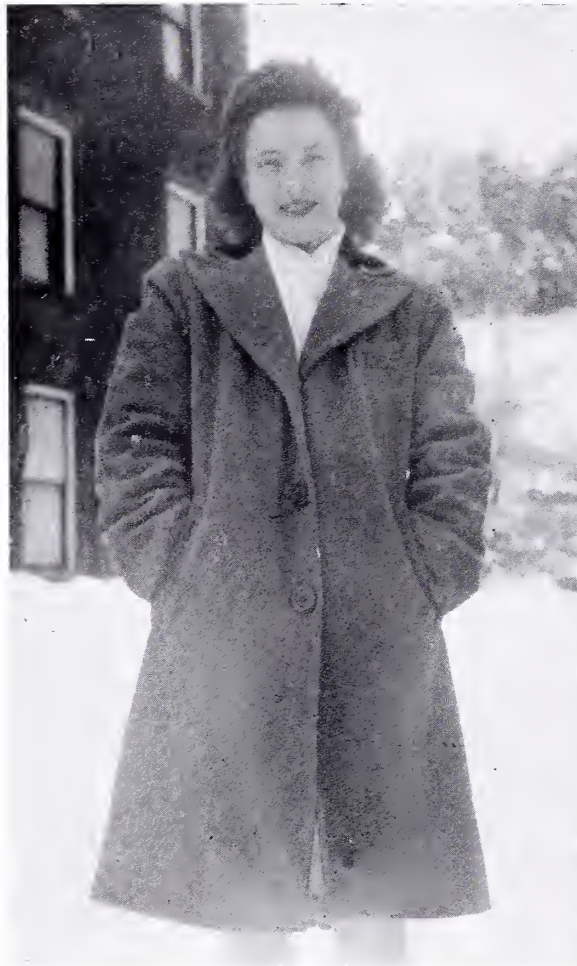

Dorm
Life

It looks like Santa found the Dorm, alright . . .

It must be funny!

This one's for you,
Raymond . . .

Hello, ladies!

Merry Christmas,
everyone!

Mr. C. Rolstan Smith of Pennsylvania spent a week in the Dorm and on his last night with us, joined the young people in their Sunday evening meeting. The boys, in a generous moment and after much prompting on part of the House Mother, invited the girls to be present.

Sunday evening is always reserved for a 'Get together' in the Wickham Hall Dorm. Miss Spilman furnishes music and the boys, the voice. The evening is concluded by food . . . Always a welcome item . . . It is interesting to note that there are never any left overs!

Smile please! Mr. Albert enjoying the fall weather.

Oh, oh, on K. P. again!
Mr. Mack seems to be enjoying it, or is it the scenery?

Well! Are you going out for the team, Miss Williams?

Campus Queen

EATHEL MOORE

The Highlander staff is proud to present the College choice as Campus Queen. Miss Moore was elected by an all school vote and takes her place as the 1946 choice of Campus Queen.

Our three Friends from 'South of the Boarder . . . Caesar, Elmer, and Raul. Their fine spirit and good nature has made them a place in our Campus life.

This is the first grade in action under the guidance of June Dotson. Practice teaching is a serious study and the students of the Teacher's Course put much time in Preparation before facing the actual class.

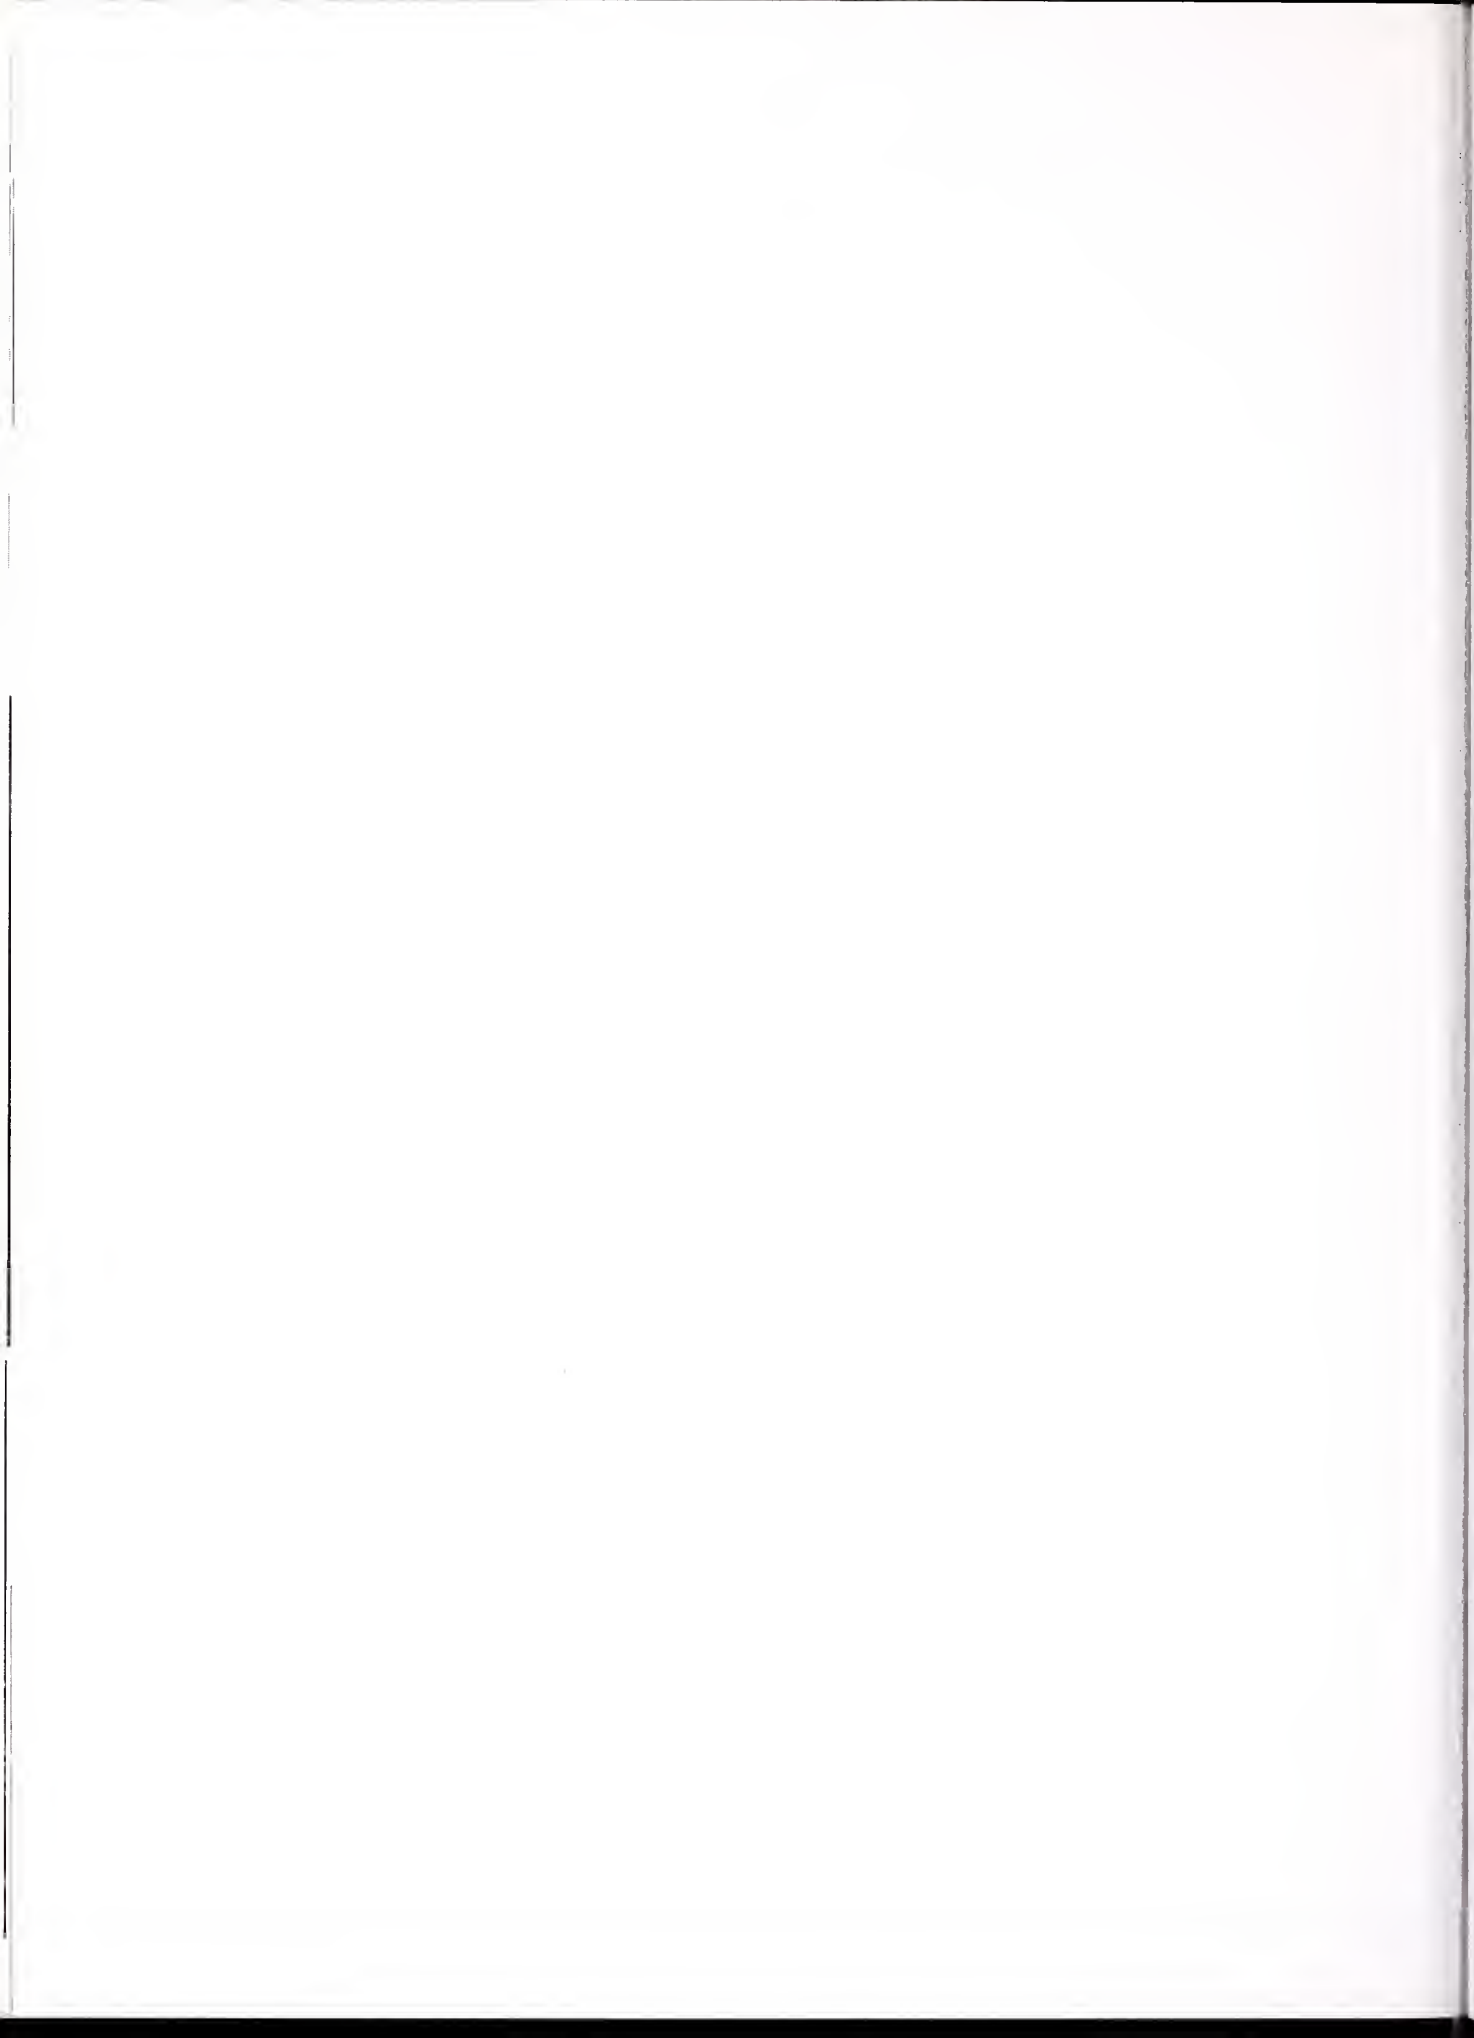

Raymond Ramey and Sharlene Mullins in an informal pose.

Retrospect

Well, there you have it . . . Your Year Book . . . These pages have told you of the year '46 at Pikeville College. Now we close them, but in closing them let us open the larger book called 'The Future' and look ahead . . . There will be other years and other Annuals . . . New people to make up the Doctors, Lawyers, Teachers and Businessmen of tomorrow. We have finished our year but the school goes on. In our future, let us not forget it. . .

To Pikeville College of tomorrow, we of today reach out the hand of fellowship and join in making the future one as proud as the past. We who are moving on will not forget you . . . our Alma Mater. . . .

Your Favorite G. I.

Is back on the job at The Gray Printing Co. The same zeal, the same determination and the same ability that carried him to success on the fighting front is imbued in the work he does on your printing requirements.

The fact that we continue to be the largest printers of school annuals in the state is proof positive that our quality, skill and service have always been and continue to be the best. And, in years to come that same workmanship and service will be maintained because our organization is now augmented by the man who fought for you and us . . .

. . . YOUR FAVORITE G.I.

ANNUALS THAT WILL LIVE

As an ever constant reminder of happy times—your Annual is always a ready reference. A forgotten name—a forgotten place—those that meant so much when you were in High School or College can be found in your year-book. Pictures and articles depicting happy years are all there—in your favorite Annual. And, to have had a part in the planning and execution of this fine book makes us proud . . . proud because we know they record events that will continue to convey happy memories through the years.
